Priority Documents for the Swedish Patent Office

In connection with its new patent law, enacted on June 1, 1978, the Swedish Patent Office adopted a rule asking for priority documents in microfiche form. We have been advised by the Deputy Director General of the Swedish Patent Office that this rule has been rescinded. Applicants should continue to submit to the Swedish Patent Office priority documents in hard copy (paper) form.

Answers to Questions Frequently Asked About the Patent Cooperation Treaty

The following questions have been frequently asked concerning the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). These questions and brief answers thereto are being published in the hope that they will aid in understanding the PCT. As appropriate, additional questions and answers relating to the PCT will be published from time to time.

1. Who can file an international application in the United States Receiving Office?
   Answer: An international application may be filed in the United States Receiving Office (Patent and Trademark Office) by any applicant who is a resident or national of the United States of America (PCT Rule 19.1 and 35 U.S.C. 361(a)). The applicant may be either the inventor or the successor in title of the inventor (owner or assignee) for the purpose of filing an international application. However, the laws of the various designated countries regarding the requirements for applicants must also be considered when filing an international application. When the United States is designated, the applicant for the purposes of the United States of America must be the inventor. At the present time the applicant for all other designated countries may be either the inventor or the owner.
2. How can different applicants for different designated countries be indicated on the Request form?
   Answer: An explanation may be given by means of the following example. An international application is to be filed designating the United States, Sweden and Switzerland. The assignee is to be the applicant for Sweden and Switzerland as the invention has been assigned to him. For the purposes of the United States, however, the inventor must be the applicant. If in this example, "A" is the assignee and "B" is the inventor, "A" and "B" must both be indicated as applicants, under Box II of the Request form. The name and other identifying information of one applicant would be placed in Box II and a check mark placed in the small box following the phrase "Additional information is contained in supplemental box." The name and other identifying information of the second applicant would be placed in the Supplemental Box on Page 3 of the Request form and entitled "II. Applicant (continued)." "B" as the inventor would also be named in Box III of the Request. Box IX, on page 2 of the Request, is then used to identify different applicants for different designated countries. In Box IX, "A" would be indicated as the applicant for Sweden and Switzerland, and "B" would be indicated as the applicant for the "United States of America." It should be noted that both "A" and "B" must also sign the Request form or a power of attorney if the Request is signed by an attorney or agent.
3. Must at least one of the inventors, who are the applicants for the United States, be a resident or national of a PCT member country in order to have the United States Patent and Trademark Office accept the application at the national stage?
   Answer: The answer is yes, however, this question involves two basic issues which must be addressed separately. One issue relates to the requirements for a valid designation of the United States of America. The other issue relates to the requirements of the U.S. national law in order for the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office to accept the international application for the national stage. As to the first issue, PCT Rules 18.3 and 18.4 require that at least one of the applicants for each designated State must be a resident or national of a member country of the PCT Union in order for the designation to be valid. As to the second issue, although the designation of the United States of America may be valid for PCT international procedure, the international application will not be accepted at the United States national stage unless the applicant is the inventor (PCT Article 27(3) and 35 U.S.C. 111 and 373). Therefore, at least one of the inventors must be a resident of a PCT member country in order for the international application to enter the national stage in the United States of America. It should be noted, however, that if the owner or assignee is a resident or national of a PCT member country, the owner can be the sole applicant and file an international application designating all current PCT member countries other than the United States of America. Any invalid designation of States for which at least one applicant is not a resident or national of a Contracting State will be deleted by the Receiving Office.
4. What must be done for an international application to enter the national stage at the United States Patent and Trademark Office?
   Answer: An international application will enter the national stage at the United States Patent and Trademark Office generally at the expiration of 20 months from the priority date of the application or if no priority claim is made at 20 months from the actual international filing date. When a declaration of unsearchability under PCT Article 17(2)(a) has been issued by the International Searching Authority, however, the date of entry into the national stage is 2 months from the date of mailing of the declaration of unsearchability (PCT Article 22(2)). By the expiration of the relevant date, the applicable requirements under 35 U.S.C. 371(c) must be received by the United States Patent and Trademark Office to avoid abandonment of the application. Entry into the national stage may also occur earlier at the express request of the applicant under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 371(f). In order that earlier entry into the national stage may take place the applicable requirements of 35 U.S.C. 371(c) must be received by the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Requirements such as the Search Report and any amendments to the claims if they are not available when the other requirements of 35 U.S.C. 371(c) are met must be submitted promptly after they are made available.
5. Who must sign an international application?
   Answer: The Request form of an international application must be signed either by all the applicants (PCT Rule 4.15) or the attorney or agent of all the applicants. In the latter case, a power of attorney signed by all applicants is filed with the international application in the Receiving Office (PCT Rule 2.1).
6. Must a license for foreign filing be obtained in order to file an international application?

Answer: No, a license for foreign filing is not required to file an international application but may be required before the applicant or the U.S. Receiving Office can forward a copy of the international application to a foreign patent office, the International Bureau or other foreign authority (37 CFR 5.11). A foreign filing license to permit transmittal to a foreign office or international authority is not required if the international application does not disclose subject matter in addition to that disclosed in a prior U.S. national application filed more than six months prior to the filing of the international application (37 CFR 5.11(a)(2)). In all other instances, the applicant should request a license for foreign filing (transmittal) (37 CFR 5.12) and if appropriate, identify any additional subject matter in the international application which was not in the earlier U.S. national application (37 CFR 5.14(c)). This request and disclosure information may be supplied on the PCT international application transmittal letter form, PTO-1382, which was published in the October 3, 1978 issue of the OFFICIAL GAZETTE. If no petition or request for a foreign filing license is included in the international application, and it is clear that a license is required in order to timely transmit the Record Copy, it is current Office practice to construe the filing of such an international application to include a request for a foreign filing (transmittal) license. If the license can be granted it will be issued without further correspondence. If no license can be issued, or further information is required, the applicant will be contacted. The automatic request for a foreign filing license does not apply to the filing of foreign national or regional applications outside the PCT.

7. What effect will a secrecy order have if applied to an international application?
Answer: If a secrecy order is applied to an international application, the application will not be forwarded to the International Bureau as long as the secrecy order remains in effect. If the secrecy order remains in effect at the end of the 14th month after the priority date of the international application, the international application will be declared withdrawn (abandoned) because the Record Copy of the international application was not received in time by the International Bureau (37 CFR 5.3(d), PCT Article 12(3), and PCT Rule 22.3). If the United States of America has been designated, however, it is possible to save the U.S. filing date, by fulfilling the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 371(c) prior to the end of the 14th month.

8. Can designations of additional countries be added after an international application is filed?
Answer: No, it is not possible to add designations to an international application after it is filed. Only those countries for which PCT has come into effect may be designated. The Request form, as filed, must contain the names of all designated countries in which protection is desired (PCT Rule 4.9). However, since the designation fees are not required until one year after the priority date, or the actual international application filing date if no priority is claimed (PCT Article 4(1)(ii) and PCT Rule 15.4(b)), applicants may initially designate all PCT countries in which they may have an interest and later only pay designation fees for those countries in which patent protection is seriously desired. Any designated country for which a designation fee is not timely paid is considered withdrawn (PCT Rule 15.5).

9. Can the PCT be used to obtain patent protection under the European Patent Convention (EPC)?
Answer: Yes, a PCT international application may contain the indication that regional patent protection under the EPC is desired for those States that are members of both PCT and EPC. As of October 1, 1978, six European States are members of both the PCT and EPC; they are: France, Federal Republic of Germany, United Kingdom, Sweden, Switzerland and Luxembourg. In order to indicate that EPC protection is desired for these States, the words "Regional Patent" must be placed after the name of the designated States in Box V on the first page of the Request form, e.g., "United Kingdom, Regional Patent." (PCT Administrative Instructions, Section 203). The Netherlands and Belgium, although members of the EPC, cannot be designated in a PCT international application since they have not ratified the PCT.

10. Can the national office of France be designated under the PCT as the office which would grant patent protection?
Answer: No, French national law states that only EPC regional patent protection is available for France if PCT is used. The Receiving Office will treat the designation of France as the wish to obtain EPC regional patent protection for France, even if the indication "Regional Patent" is missing (PCT Administrative Instructions, Section 203). However, if the European Patent Office is not yet examining the subject matter to which the invention relates, the applicant will be permitted to convert the European application to a French national application.

11. Can United States applicants use Chapter II of the PCT which provides for an international preliminary examination report being issued with an opinion on the (1) novelty, (2) inventive step, and (3) industrial applicability, of each claim in the international application?
Answer: No, an applicant filing in the United States Receiving Office cannot use PCT Chapter II since the United States of America did not ratify Chapter II (PCT Article 31(2)(a)).

12. When will the prior art effect of an international application begin in the United States?
Answer: The prior art effect under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) begins on the date the applicant has fulfilled the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 371(c)(1), (2) and (4). These requirements are that the national filing fee, a copy of the international application and a verified English translation thereof, if it was filed in another language, and an oath or declaration be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office. The international application also becomes prior art upon publication, which occurs either promptly after the expiration of 18 months from the priority date, or earlier at applicant's request.

13. When must a "prior art statement" be filed under the PCT?
Answer: If the United States of America is designated, a prior art statement under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98 should be filed at the time of entering the national stage (37 U.S.C. 371(b) or (f) or within three months thereafter. For purposes of 37 CFR 1.97(a) the date of entry into the national stage is considered to be "the time of filing the application."

14. Who may be contacted within the United States Patent and Trademark Office to answer additional questions on PCT?
Answer: Contacts within the United States Patent and Trademark Office include Mr. Louis O. Maassel, Crystal Plaza 3, Room 11D07, (703)557-3070; Ms. Mary E. Turowski, Crystal Plaza 2, Room 9C26, (703)557-3776; and PCT Receiving Office and Information Center, Crystal Plaza 2, Room 4C08, (703)557-2003.
